PROBLEM

If you're using the public Internet to access your business data, you're placing your company at risk. Connect directly to all of the major sites using our private backbone that bypasses the public Internet entirely, adding another layer of security so your critical information is safe.

SOLUTION

We build custom designed networks for each customer using our blended network approach of Layer 2 and Layer 3 network technologies. As a result, this revolutionary technology design offers customers multiple and dynamic streams of data through a single pipe, providing superior performance and value from bandwidth-intensive services like voice, data, web services, video, and backups – all on a single handoff from our fiber backbone and what we call One Pipe Multi-Connect.
